

Ethics and Public Policy Center

The Ethics and Public Policy Center was founded in 1976 and is an institution committed to defending the United States founding principles through a philosophy of Judeo-Christian tradition that analyzes issues ranging from historical times up to today.

Openly addressing religious public policy issues through a religious and moral sphere of consideration, the EPPC is unique in their approach to shaping how America's political leaders make policy decisions that impact levels of democracy.

No digital archives dating back to the 1970's.